Dear Paul,

Many thanks for sending me the T-H Sunday story. It got little attention around here but I heard a radio item Saturday night on it.

It is only part of what is going on down there and not only in Dallas. I do hope you can keep sending me stories as they appear. This one seems to have particular potential. My analysis was good enough to be able to anticipate one of the by-lines accurately. And what the stories do not say that they could have also is interesting.

In the recent past I have obtained some old material that leads me to believe this could be part of a larger struggle between conflicting powerful forces. I am sure this was originally leaked and I'd like to know by whom. It appears to be a pretty Byzantine matter.

The only calls I've had on any aspect of this deal with the Waggoner Carr part. He told the truth. I've had his letters for years. I read some by phone to a talk show last night. San Antonio, Allan Dale's.

I'm sure you have many problems. Don't let them swamp you, though. They need not and feeling that way can reduce your ability to cope with them. I've indicated an awareness of one. I'm not at all sure that doesn't figure in the current flap.

When is the Hunt trial actually going to start? Those kinds of people often hire PR people for trials but that they reached out to Denver is a bit unusual. If they were not so tied to Foreman their situation might be a bit better. Jon Kelly picked up plenty on Foreman. I have met his cousin/lawyer. I have a notion that ~~as~~ aside from his interest in his client he has a greater interest in Foreman than in the "Hunts".

There will be more on the JFK assassination before long. I expect the story you sent is not by any means a one-shot and I'm hoping to bring more out soon. Texas people are also fighting back, years too late. You may remember my regret that I could not interest any of them of means in helping bring the truth out and my belief that the truth would help the Dallas and Texas image.

You are involved in what one needs an almost daily updating of a scorecard to keep up with. I know what has been alleged in the papers. If you can ever cue me in more perhaps the time will come when it can be helpful.

Meanwhile, I hope you can keep cool about it.

Thanks and best regards,
